

Memo Therapeutics AG is a clinical stage biotech company developing antibody-based therapies in the area of infectious diseases and cancer. We are seeking a

Senior Scientist Molecular Biology

You will work in an interdisciplinary team operating and further developing our DROPZYLLA® microfluidic platform for the discovery of antibodies from human and animal sources.

Requirements:

- PhD in Molecular Biology or similar with at least 2 years of postdoctoral experience
- Extensive experience with state-of-the-art cloning techniques, e.g. Gibson assembly, Crisp/Cas9
- Knowledge in the field of library cloning for mammalian protein expression
- Previous experience in the antibody field
- Experience in NGS library cloning and data analysis is a plus
- Experience in cell-line development is a plus
- Strong organisational and planning skills
- Biotech-compatible mind set and team player

Memo Therapeutics AG offers excellent career opportunities in a dynamic start-up environment in state-of-the-art facilities at the Biotechnopark Schlieren, Zurich.

If you are interested, please send your short cover letter and CV combined in one single PDF document to: jobs\(at\)memo-therapeutics.com.

Memo Therapeutics AG is an equal opportunity employer.